

WILDERNESS COMMITTEE

WALBRAN VALLEY EXPEDITION GEAR LIST

Camping

- Backpack: 60 to 70 liters (yes, we will have vehicle access, but your gear will need to be compact)
- Tent: most of the established tent spots are for 1 or 2 person tents – if you only have a bigger one this could be a problem, so please let us know. We've had volunteers use backpacking hammocks in the past, so that's an option too
- Sleeping bag: make sure it's a warm bag as the nights are always a bit chilly. Always pack bag in waterproof bag or garbage bag
- Sleeping pad: to keep you off the ground & warm (ie. thermarest)
- Water bottle: 2 liters minimum (bring two bottles or a bladder)
- Daypack: depending on where we're working, we might be away from the campsite/vehicles from after breakfast until just before dinner, so bring something to carry water (and water treatment), lunch, extra clothes, etc.
- Water treatment: pump, tabs, UV, etc. (*note: the only way to be certain that water is 100% clean is to boil it. If you want to do this, that's fine, but be prepared to wake up early to do it, as we won't have time to wait for you in the mornings)
- Tarp & rope: (optional) nice to have one or two to cook under – let us know by email if you've got one
- Flashlight or headlamp: we camp in dense old-growth, so it gets dark way earlier than normal (install fresh batteries before leaving!)

Food (volunteers are responsible to bring ALL of their own food)

- Bagged lunches - for Friday (on the road), Saturday & Sunday (on the trail)
- Breakfasts – for Saturday & Sunday
- Dinners – for Friday & Saturday
- We have dinners and breakfasts at our campsite, so you can do hot stuff, but lunches usually are done on the trail, so bring bagged lunches that you don't need to heat (i.e. sandwiches, wraps, hummus, bars, nuts, etc.)
- Optional: alcoholic/non-alcoholic beverages of your choice (for after a hard day's work)
- Aim to maximize calories (let us know if you need some meal suggestions)
- We will be working hard/hiking long days, so make sure you bring lots of food
- Again, because we'll have vehicle access, lightweight/dehydrated food isn't mandatory, and we'll lock food in vehicles at night and when we're out working for the day

Cooking

- Stove & fuel: the compact backpacking kind
- Cooking pot
- Mug: for hot tea & coffee!
- Knife, fork, spoon, plate, etc.
- Biodegradable soap/scrub pad

Clothing

- Hiking boots: they must fit properly, bring moleskin bandages if prone to blisters – we'll be hiking/working on the trail all day Saturday and part of the day on Sunday, so bring shoes you can hike and work in
- Shoes: other shoes you can change into at camp
- Socks: wool or wool blend (ideally)
- Trail clothing: whatever you're comfortable in – again, for hiking and then working and hanging out at camp
- Long underwear: it can get cold overnight
- Campsite clothes: we highly recommend separate base and mid-layers for hanging at the campsite after the work day
- Gloves & toque: for cold nights
- Rain gear: you'll need it! Jacket and pants – even if it's not raining, often it is wet in the bush
- Underwear
- Hat/head wear: to keep the chill and mosquitoes off!
- Swimsuit: to take a dip in the river
- Towel: for swimming

Personal

- Hygiene stuff: mask, hand sanitizer, toothbrush, toothpaste, medications (for prescription meds, please bring double the amount you will need), biodegradable sunscreen, toilet paper (in a ziplock bag) menstrual products (if needed)
- Glasses/contact lenses (if needed) & sunglasses
- Bug repellent: biodegradable (let's not harm this pristine ecosystem) - the mosquitoes can be bad in the forest

Optional

- Camera: we highly encourage you to take photos and share them with us!
- Battery pack & charging cord: to charge phone & camera
- Book/cards/games
- Pocketknife or leatherman
- Ear plugs & sleeping mask
- Bearspray – we've seen bears on trips before, but we've never had any close encounters

Please note:

- We'll be camping close to the vehicles, so you won't need to hike your food and gear long distances, but it's always good to pack light/compact anyway
- Plan for all weather, we discourage cotton clothing
- Because this isn't a trekking trip and weight isn't a huge issue, pack some extra layers
